Minors

Our department offers several minors for students looking to strengthen their linguistic skills or increase their knowledge about Scandinavian or Baltic cultures. Like our major programs, the minor programs help students understand the world from a different perspective. They also help students hone their research, analysis, critical thinking, and communication skills in a welcoming, supportive, and inclusive academic environment. The region's innovative approaches to economic, environmental, business and gender equity issues make our minor program the perfect complement to majors in the humanities, arts, STEM, international studies, or business administration.

Language 101 courses are available only in the fall, so students are encouraged to begin the language requirements as early as possible. If you have previous experience studying one of the department languages, schedule a placement test by emailing uwscand@uw.edu.

Declaring a Minor in the Department of Scandinavian Studies

Students in good academic standing may declare the minor at any time by meeting with their major adviser. Please see Undergraduate Advising's Minor page for additional considerations about earning a minor.
