

INDIANA UNIVERSITY SUMMER LANGUAGE WORKSHOP

Baltic Studies Summer Institute Estonian, Latvian, Lithuanian

BALSSI's intensive, proficiency-based curriculum features 20 contact hours weekly and a rich co-curricular program, including language tables, films, clubs, cooking demonstrations, and lectures with area studies specialists. Participants study in small, student-focused classes with highly qualified instructors from around the globe, while preparing for study abroad or foreign service by working with authentic materials and gaining cultural proficiency.

Classes are held on the Indiana University campus in Bloomington, IN, with morning sessions Monday–Friday and extracurricular activities in the afternoons. Program participants earn transferable IU credit and have access to university libraries, recreational facilities, and public transit. On-campus housing is available, but not required. Graduate students, undergraduates, and professionals from the United States and abroad are welcome to participate. No prior language experience required.

Application & Deadline: Applications are now open at the Summer Language Workshop website. Funding applications are due February 1, 2018, and Workshop applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until May 1, 2018. All courses are contingent upon funding and enrollment.
